

Shannon Rose Irish Pub, Clifton New Jersey

The Ives Architectural team worked with the Doherty Enterprises and "Bar None" a Canadian pub expert to design this prototype authentic Irish pub located in Clifton Commons. This unusual assignment started when we were presented with an empty site and culminated with the grand opening of the facility. Our architects prepared drawings for the building shell and worked with Bar None to develop the unique pub style exterior that has been further developed at other locations. We provided mechanical, electrical and structural engineering through our consultants. Our staff worked on the interiors package, the kitchen as well as coordinating all elements of the building to provide a complete package.
