

Temple Beth Rishon, Wyckoff/Franklin Lakes, New Jersey

The Ives Group led by Joel Ives, AIA previously designed an educational center for Temple Beth Rishon and was called back to design this project which requires a larger new sanctuary which expands the seating to 1,180 total seats and serve as an inspiration to the congregation. Programming required that the sanctuary be able to be divided into smaller spaces for flexibility of use. The sanctuary provides 395 seats, while an additional 785 seats will be provided in a flexible space. We services include site planning, architectural and interior design, construction phasing and overall project coordination. The study model shown in the photograph was instrumental in the congregation approving the design and the budget.
